INVITATION

COMMEMORATION OF THE 100th ANNIVERSARY OF THE DARR MINE DISASTER

You are cordially invited to participate in the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Darr mine explosion in Pennsylvania. A number of Hungarian organizations joined together, along with the local community, to remember the tragic event that took place a hundred years ago.

On December 19, 1907, an explosion in the Darr Mine, at Rostraver, Pennsylvania, took the lives of 239 men and teenage boys. The mining disaster is the worst in the history of Pennsylvania and the second worst in the history of the United States. In the explosion, most of those killed were Hungarian immigrant laborers. By commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Darr mine explosion, the Hungarian organizations planning the event declared that it is important to remember the tragedy and all those who were affected by it. “By remembering the Darr tragedy, we reaffirm our nation’s focus on safety in the workplace,” they said. “We affirm that the sacrifices were not in vain, and we pledge ourselves to continue working together for the good of humankind,” said the statement of the six Hungarian organizations.

The commemoration is scheduled for September 29, Saturday, at 11 a.m., in Van Meter, Pennsylvania, at the Olive Branch cemetery and a neighboring church (Approximately 50 miles from Pittsburgh.) The program will include remarks by the representatives of the sponsoring organizations, representatives of labor organizations and safety and health organizations, as well as governmental officials. There will be wreath laying ceremony at the cemetery, and a visit to the Darr mine site. Hungarian-American children will read the names of the Hungarian miners who died in the explosion.

American Hungarian Federation
Bethlen Communities, Ligonier, Pennsylvania
